

The Perfect Control Group: Unvaccinated Amish Shatter the Corona and Vaccine Narrative

Ga Corona measures, no experimental vaccinations - and the Amish are doing fine: the critical blogger Steve Kirsch had proudly offered a $2,500 to anyone who could name more than five Amish who had died of Covid-19. But Kirsch was able to keep his money, because the Corona death rate in the Amish community did not materialize. There is hardly a better way to demonstrate the ineffectiveness of the so-called protection measures than with this “control group” – the vaccination information program #Impfgeflüster reports on all the details, reports Report24 .

Read it here in episode 6 of the third season of #Impfgeflüster:

$2500 premium for people who died of Corona?

Mass deaths in the unvaccinated Amish community in the US?

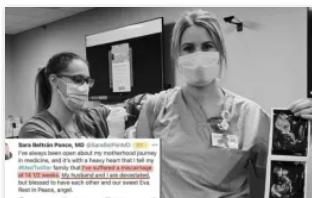

The perfect placebo group is ignored....

The Amish have their roots in the Reformed Anabaptist movement of Central Europe, especially Switzerland and southern Germany. The Amish separated from the main stream of Anabaptists, the Mennonites, in 1693 and are a Protestant denomination that lives mainly in the US.

The Old Order Amish live a life strongly rooted in agriculture and are known for rejecting certain modern techniques (e.g. vaccination) and adopting innovations only after carefully considering their consequences. The Amish attach great importance to a family with naturally prescribed gender roles. Community and seclusion from the outside world are part of their way of life.

The North American Amish population grew from 249,500 people in 2010 to 341,900 in 2019, an increase of 37%. The Amish population doubles every 20 years. The Amish do not take out insurance as a matter of principle. The Amish were also exempt from mandatory health insurance introduced by President Obama in 2012. Any health costs are borne exclusively by donations from the Amish.

Fear and anxiety about too many recommended vaccinations, which could overload the children's organisms, lead to astonishingly low vaccination rates in Amish families. Despite the refusal to vaccinate, in 2005 there was only one "polio outbreak" of 4 children without symptoms, which could only be detected by intensive testing. And that after many decades without vaccination! Fortunately, the German Ärztezeitung reported!

COVID shots destroy sperm motility, cause spontaneous abortions and damage women's ovaries

Extract from the 2005 Ärztezeitung:

WASHINGTON (dpa). For the first time in 26 years, an outbreak of poliomyelitis (polio) has been recorded in the United States. At least four children were infected with the virus in an Amish community in Minnesota, the local newspaper "Star-Tribune" reported over the weekend of 2005.

None of the four children have yet shown symptoms of the disease, such as paralysis. The poliovirus was first discovered two weeks ago in a seven-month-old baby with severe immunodeficiency. Later tests revealed the other infections. –

Unfortunately, the article in Ärztezeitung does not say exactly which test was used.

An outbreak of measles in the Amish community in Ohio in 2014 was uneventful. 383 people were affected. They all recovered.

Another example is the number of tetanus cases in the Amish community. In Pennsylvania January 2006 to December 2015, so a period of almost 10 years, published in the "Open Forum Infectious Disease" 2017: The results are remarkable. Only 4 cases of pediatric tetanus infection have been identified in almost 10 years, with 100% occurring in unvaccinated patients and 3 of 4 (75%) in Amish persons. All 4 patients were treated and discharged as cured.

Massive deaths from Corona?

The Amish did not isolate, social distance, mask or vaccinate during Corona. Only a few died. Steve Kirsch had offered $2,500 to anyone who could name more than 5 Amish deaths.

got sick didn't go to the hospital. The Amish remained in their communities and were treated as respiratory diseases are treated. The perfect placebo group.

Shocking WHO plan exposed - Plan 10 years of pandemics, from 2020 to 2030 (Video)

Steve Kirsch writes about this on his blog:

<https://stevekirsch.substack.com/p/can-you-name-5-unvaxxed-amish-who>

I recently learned that in the unvaccinated Amish community in Lancaster, PA, population over 50,000, probably fewer than a handful of people have died from COVID. Lancaster is the largest Amish community in the US.

If no one in the world can name more than 5 unvaccinated Amish who have died in Lancaster, PA, then that means the entire response to the pandemic (lockdown, closure of stores, schools, churches, testing, masking, social distancing, regulations) is completely unnecessary and counterproductive.

So far, no one has been able to name more than 5 unvaccinated Amish people in Lancaster, PA who have died from Covid. In fact, they can't name anyone. Zero.

The Amish have acted completely normally and their death toll is 30 times lower than ours. They acted as if nothing had happened.

Will we learn something from the Amish community? So far it doesn't seem like it!

If the CDC did a study on the Amish, it would be  English embarrassing! It would show the world that everything the CDC has asked us to do has been both harmful and unnecessary; it has made things worse. And the things the CDC said not to do? Well, that's what the Amish did. You know; like that horse pasta.

Of course there was a so-called “fact check”, the Amish community would have been very affected by Corona. This so-called “fact check” once again proved a major problem with “reading comprehension”. The passage is in the citations (Twitter Steve Kirsch).

The SIDS cases, as well as the SADS cases and the “sudden and unexpected” cases are unknown in the Amish community (episode #5 Impfgeflüster). Moreover, they do not suffer from the known side effects of various vaccinations. Shouldn't this make us think?

Former Pfizer Vice President: "Vaccination is Attempted Murder!" - Disability and death rates are exploding

Instead of letting the WHO take charge of the next pandemic and give up our sovereignty, we should put the Amish in charge! The numbers and statistics prove the Amish absolutely right!
